

Mike Korostelev

Underwater Photographer

About

Mike Korostelev is an underwater photographer from Moscow, Russia. He uses photography as a tool to show the underwater beauty of its inhabitants. Mike participates in projects for the conservation and protection of the wildlife.

Main directions

Large species of the underwater world like sharks, crocodiles, sea lions, seals, manatees and other.

Goals

- To show the other side of animals which have bad reputation;
- To inculcate respect for wild animals;
- To draw public attention to the negative human impact on wildlife;
- To inform people of their responsibility for the preservation of wild animals.

Features

National Geographic
Wild Magazine
Daily Mail
The Telegraph
The Guardian

Awards

Asferico (International Nature Photography Competition)
Golden Turtle (International Nature Photography Award)
AdMe Photo Awards
GDT European Wildlife Photographer of the Year 2015