Telling Arts | 疊藝術

Telling Arts is an online platform dedicated to promoting talented emerging artists from Taiwan.

Through cooperation with different business entities and unique space, Telling Arts curates customised exhibitions and inspiring art events to create new dialogues between Taiwanese contemporary art scene and the the general public.

Featuring artists who express the dynamic characteristics of the world today, Telling Arts aims at redefining the idea of exhibition and brings art closer to people. We look forward to cooperating with different partners both in Taiwan and abroad to create innovative shows that tell stories through art.

Wen Meng-Yu (1987-)

Wen Meng-Yu was born in Chiayi, Taiwan and had received both a B.F.A and a M.F.A in the Department of Fine Arts in Taipei National University.

Recognised by significant art award juries, including Art Olympia, Long Yen Foundation Art scholarship and Taipei Art Awards, Wen Meng-Yu is an artist who devotes herself to the discovering of the relationship between human beings and spaces. She takes rooms as a container of our daily life and captures the subtleties of human relationships through furniture and object arrangements. Her art works are collected by "Art Bank, Taiwan", a program under National Taiwan Museum of Fine Arts and the renown Long Yen Foundation collection.
