

Liang Yi-fen

Liang Yi-fen, born 1937 in Fenyuan, Changhua County, graduated from Taipei School of Education, where he studied under contemporary master Li Chun-shan. In 1987, Liang moved to New York's Soho district, where he set up a studio. There he held several personal exhibits between 1995 and 1999, receiving widespread praise. Over a decade later, Liang returned to Taiwan where, influenced by modern art during his time abroad, he completed several major works. Having achieved what few local artists can on the global stage, Liang has become the pride of Taiwan's arts community.
