PROFILE

Art, travel and nature are three of Lynda's favourite things.

Lynda is a self taught artist specialising in acrylics. Most of her works are commission pieces where she is entrusted to portray peoples much loved pets.

Born in Ipswich, Australia, Lynda has always had a love of art. From the very first time she was able to hold a pencil she was experimenting with techniques and has won several awards during her journey.

Lynda spent many years living on a remote water pumping station in Central Queensland. Often cut off from neighbours and the town by floodwaters gave her time to study her vast environment.

“Living such an isolated lifestyle made me really see and feel the colours, light and movement around me. This experience has enabled me to portray my subjects in a way that often surprise but engage the viewer.”

In a world of conflict Lynda makes art that makes people smile.

“In my dreams I am swimming in bold colours. They don't blend but stay pure and clean. I breathe them, I feel them and I live them. Colour is my passion.”
