Gestural Abstract Photography

With his sociological academic background from Korea University as a law major, he tries to express his thoughts on humanities and philosophy beyond mere beauty before eyes. He pioneered the whole new art genre of gestural abstract photography in which he uses his camera as a painting brush or a knife, thereby expressing abstract style of fine art photography. By so doing, he believes he can overcome all the unnecessary rules and instructions regarding photography which have been obstructing the true artistic photographic expression. He never manipulates his photos using photoshop tool or other utilities except for slight basic retouches if necessary, which definitely brings uniqueness to his art world.
