NEVERLAND- Eun Kyeong, Jang's statement

Every human being lives a life with sorrow, pain, agony, wound, love and pleasure and the life itself is consists of such emotional categories.

In every life, the moment of today gathers and makes yesterday and tomorrow.

The day becomes a history of human being and history of the earth, and these histories are made by efforts of people and efforts of nature under the plan of God.

Within this, there is no way but to live together with people and nature.

This is reflected on the fact that people's world cannot be made without support of nature and vice versa.

However, the nature cares human more than what they receive from human.

This is a silent patience and complete adaptation; it must be a great present that God gave people as a guide to look on how to live. We have to open our eyes and ears to comprehend such messages.

When people opens the door towards human, nature and sky and communicate with them, we can understand the mission of our birth as a human being.

The basic driving force that helps us to soar vigorously begins when we open the door towards the human being, nature and sky.

We can looking for the dream when the people be like children.
