

wamono art

Wamono art is an online gallery specializing in emerging Japanese artists working in bamboo, ceramics, metal, glass and urushi sculpture.

The word “wamono” consists of the words “wa = Japan” and “mono = hand manufactured pieces / physical objects / oneness”. In keeping with its name, wamono art focuses on introducing emerging Japanese artists through their ambitions, experiences, philosophies, souls, and aesthetics. Such uniqueness is all condensed and represented in their hand-crafted original art pieces.

Karen Yoneyama, Director and Art Consultant, has extensive knowledge and experience of more than a quarter of a century in the art industry. She has worked in renowned art houses including Japan Art & Culture Association, The Museum of Modern Art, NY, and Sotheby's Japan. Wamono art values direct communication with artists and our directors are passionate about every single piece of art work selected for our gallery.
